

Business Data Analyst Take Home Test

These are the kinds of business questions within the big picture of what the Product team works on. There is a data set attached in an excel document that you should base your answers off of. We collect similar data from our executives and below are some questions that we would like you to take some time to answer based on the data provided. Please feel free to google other online learning companies and/or statistics and any other relevant data that you feel might support insights.

Questions

1. What percentage of respondents have applied program experiences and learnings to their role? [agree and strongly agree]
2. Please write a SQL statement to pull only the relevant data fields from the data set provided for the previous question (Assume the provided data set is a data table named `execprod.stg_sk_survey_1`)
3. Please find 2 or 3 key insights from the provided data set and present them visually.
